My goal in starting Masterful Purpose was to help people discover their God-given, gift, talent and destiny. Connected to your gift is your goals. Your goals are the reason you were born. God put us on this earth for his purpose and his purpose for you is in your gift. Your gift is what you are good at doing.

You are good at your gift because you enjoy whatever is your gift. When you are good at something and you enjoy it, you will master it and all else, money, fame, peace, riches (whatever, riches means to you) will come to you.

Many and I would dare to say most people are afraid of success. It doesn't matter what they say, the fact is proven by actions. Most of us, and I was there too, get used to our norm and comfortable living in lack. God wants for us his very best.

My gift is poetry, speaking, and coaching. It is what I have done since I was very young. I went around the career world, doing all kinds of jobs and came full circle back to what I was called to do, poetry, speaking, and coaching.

My hope is to help others not take that journey. That trip was a 50 year, trip and it didn't have to be if I had only stayed true to my calling that I had since age 10.

I found the key to achieving my goals, dreams, and destiny. With my whole heart, I want to share what I learned to help others shorten their trip to success. My coaching and workshops developed for those who are really, ready for achievement and results is my way of giving back.
